MEKONG INSTITUTE YOUNG SCHOLARS (MIYS) PROGRAM

ABOUT MI

Mekong Institute (MI) is an inter-governmental organization serving the countries of the Greater Mekong Sub-region (GMS) namely Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar, Thailand, Vietnam, Yunnan Province and Guangxi Zhuang Autonomous Region of China. MI holds the distinction of being the only GMS-based development learning institute, founded by the six GMS Governments, offering standard and on-demand human resource development programs with focus on capacity development for regional cooperation and integration.

ABOUT THE MIYS PROGRAM

The program aims to develop the human resource capacity of public institutions involved in the Lancang-Mekong Cooperation (LMC) development and cooperation initiative by providing a structured learning opportunity and hands-on experience to selected officials and staff over a six-month period. Participants of the program will be identified as Mekong Institute Young Scholars (MIYS). Supported by the People's Republic of China, the MIYS Program also seeks to strengthen the linkage between these public institutions and MI.

The program will feature an in-classroom training where participants will be introduced to basic facilitation skills and regional cooperation concepts in the context of the LMC. After completing this, they will then be assigned to work as Program Officer in Trade and Investment Facilitation Department or Office of Executive Director of MI based on their interest. This practical assignment will ensure that after completion in the program they have acquired the skills and exposure to the work of a development agency like MI. The duration of the program is May 7-November 6, 2018 (6 months).
